DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1 - 5 are allowed.
2. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The present invention of claims 1 - 5 is directed to a video player device intended to play a video content that includes audio tracks forming a disc audio languages list and/or subtitles forming a disc subtitle languages list in a given number of languages.

Independent claim 1 identifies the unique distinct feature “means for generating a dynamic menu intended to be displayed by filtering the languages of the audio tracks present on the disc in accordance with the list of interesting languages, said dynamic menu being such that languages of the list of interesting languages have priority in the dynamic menu.”

The closest prior art, Kim (US 7136359) discloses a video player device (fig 1, 12, DVD player) intended to play a video content that includes audio tracks and/or subtitles (col 4, line 34, audio and video and col 3, line 66, subtitle) in a given number N of languages, said number N being higher than 5 (col 1, lines 55 – 56, 8 languages) comprising a user interface enabling the user to define a list of interesting languages (col 2, lines 17 – 22) a memory for storing the list of interesting languages (col 2, lines 35 – 40). However Kim fails to anticipate or render the above mentioned underlined limitations obvious.

Hence claim 1 is allowed.

Since claims 2 - 4 are dependent on claim 1, therefore they are allowed.

Independent claim 5 identifies the unique distinct feature “a step of acquiring a list of interesting languages; a step of storing said list of interesting languages in a memory; a step of comparing each language of said list of languages with said list of interesting languages; a step of listing said language in the dynamic menu if said language is equal to one of the languages in said list of interesting languages and a step of ordering the languages listed in the dynamic menu in accordance with the order in which they appear in the list of interesting languages."

Art Unit: 2621

Hence claim 5 is allowed.

Therefore claims 1 – 5 are allowed over prior art.
